Verbal Description: Virtually intact candelero. Unusual form: Overall shape is a rounded triangular, but it has four holes/chambers, seemingly made by fingers, although they are rather square at the tops. Chamber interiors, ~~especially~~ especially at the bases, are very dark gray. Three chambers, at the "points" of the triangle, have holes pierced from the exterior to the interior. The ~~holes~~ <sup>vents</sup> average 0.3 cm in diameter, while the chambers are 1.2-1.4 cm in diameter. The exterior is decorated with incision: two parallel circumferential lines, above which are "V"s. Incision is variable in width and depth, and was done prior to hole punching. Holes are punched without regard for the design.
